LEUZINGER

VOL. XXIX

Pylon Honors Mrs. LoPresti

The Pylon is dedicated to Connie LoPresti, Foreign Language Department head and French instructor, an educator with 25 years of service. Aside from her expertise in language and making each class an adventure for students, Mrs. LoPresti is a true citizen of Leuzinger. Her contributions in service to the school, students, and community have made a significant impression on all those who know her.

Olympian Horizons are measurable on the scale of life. Graduating seniors look to a horizon that's a tableau of challenges. The fledgling underclassmen look to horizons in which their daily lives evolve around Leuzinger. They have an opportunity to accept the challenges presented in their daily pursuits of education; they seek to better the records of all previous senior classes. Underclassmen face the horizon with a more complex format to consider. Sophomores look to horizons which reflect a kindled interest in Leuzinger High as a community. And finally the freshmen. They have completed their first year at LHS. The horizons of the future hold many things in store for them. Will they make the most of them?

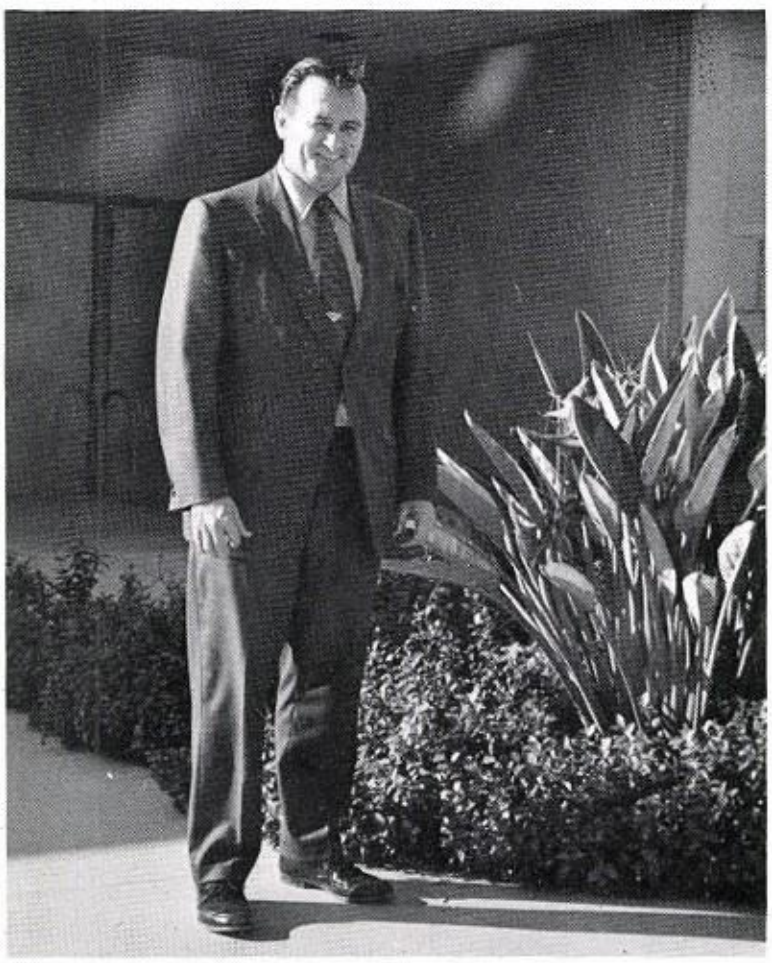
Counselors Aid in Student Decision-Making

Joy Pace

I am hopeful your years at Leuzinger have helped to prepare you for the future - a future of successes, failures, joys and sorrows. May each of you contribute your share to improving this world we live in. My very best wishes to each of you.

Mr. Pace



Richard Lester

Mary Robins

This senior class has been very exciting and rewarding. The class of 1971 seems to be a hard working group of students and very realistic regarding plans for the future. I hope in your years at Leuzinger that you secured the tools to live a productive life with much happiness. You are capable of fulfilling your wishes if you plan ahead and if you do your best in whatever you attempt (work, school, home) -- then you can take pride in your life. I wish all of you good health, success, and happiness.

Mary Robins

During the past four years it has been the aim of the Leuzinger faculty, counselors, and administrators to provide experiences that would help each of you to accept the responsibilities of adult life with confidence. Through these experiences we hope you have developed a good foundation upon which to rely as you meet the new horizons of the future. Our success will be measured in the years to come by your ability to involve yourselves with the problems of the communities where you live and to solve them. We will all be looking forward to see and to derive pleasure from the accomplishments that many of you will make. Take Olympian pride and spirit with you. Congratulations.

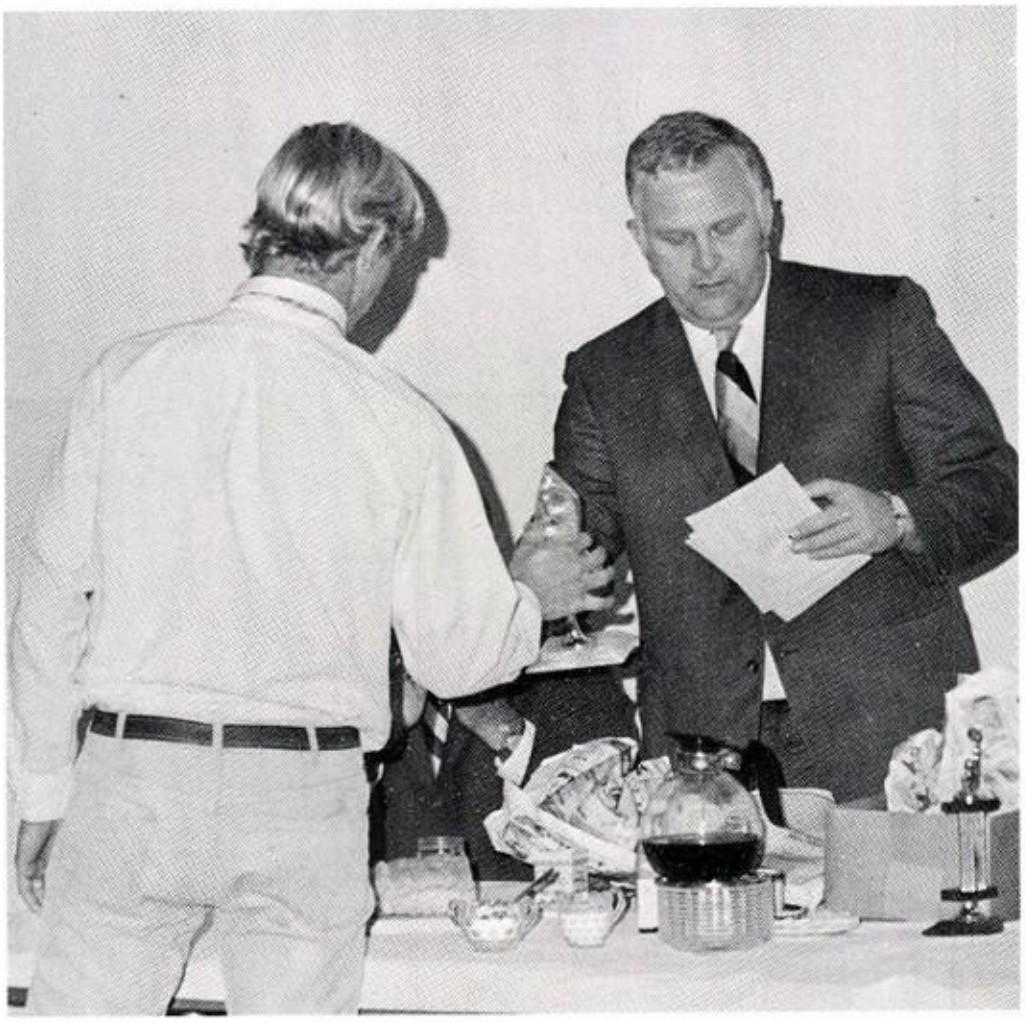
Promises Ahead

Keep Planning for the future
instead of dreaming of the past,
Yes, planning on those years ahead
Where promises are cast.
Keep searching for the yet un-
Found and for some tasks to do.
Keep planning for the future yes,
And of the years to be.
The years so full of promises yes,
That is life's key.



Senior Holly Van Gores achieves recognition at the annual sports banquet.

THE RIMERS of ELDRITCH ENSEMBLE

OLYMPIAN Meets Hectic Bi-Weekly Deadlines

Vince Aleccia
Editor-in-Chief
1st Semester

Producing 18 issues with its bi-weekly publication format, Volume XXIV of the Olympian proved to be one of the most thought-provoking in LHS history. Under the leadership of editor-in-chief Vince Aleccia, the first semester editions dealt with the vast amount of apathy on campus. Second semester editor Bill Hunsaker continued to analyze the apathy situation at Leuzinger, as well as exploring other pressing problems.

Staff activities for the year included the annual Press Day held at El Camino College, a Los Angeles Times tour and banquet, and the twelfth annual All-Centinela Valley Press Banquet honoring student journalists with writing awards.

The Olympian grid record, 2-7, for 1970 was recorded by those who carried the Blue and White into battle. Unmeasurable is the great spirit evidenced by both the players and the record crowds of fans who attempted to cheer the teams on to victory.

Pre-league activity saw the Olymps fall victim to "opening game" jitters as they lost to Inglewood, 28-8. This was the last meeting for both teams as they will not be scheduled to compete against each other next year.

Team potential was shown on Sept. 25, when the Blue and White journeyed to Artesia and recorded a 14-6 victory, one which extended a streak to three consecutive wins.

The following week the Olymps showed their true ability as they put everything together in posting a great upset win over Torrance Tartars. Coach Art Linden's charges could not be denied as they blanked the highly-rated Tartars, 28-0 to record their second win and first league victory.

Unsuspecting the quickness of their next foe, the Olympians discovered the following week that Culver City could not be denied. The Centaurs rolled to a 28-0 victory as our team found it difficult to unwind.

Beverly Hills opened its bag of tricks on their home field the following week and the Olympians were unable to thwart the Norman wizardry as the latter posted a 30-8 win.

Dame fortune turned her back on the Olympians the following week when a matter of seconds proved to be the difference in making Homecoming a complete success. A capacity crowd saw the Olymps lead the defending champions, Rolling Hills throughout the game only to have the Titans score and convert in the final minute of play for a 22-20 win.

The Blue and White closed the season on Friday Nov. 13, with a disheartening 30-24 loss to Aviation in their first official clash with the Falcons.

Tight end Gary Vacchio receives screen pass and advances ball for a first down against Beverly Hills.

Two year letterman Ralph Quiroz breaks up screen play in closing minutes of Artesia game.

Olymps Perform Sporadically

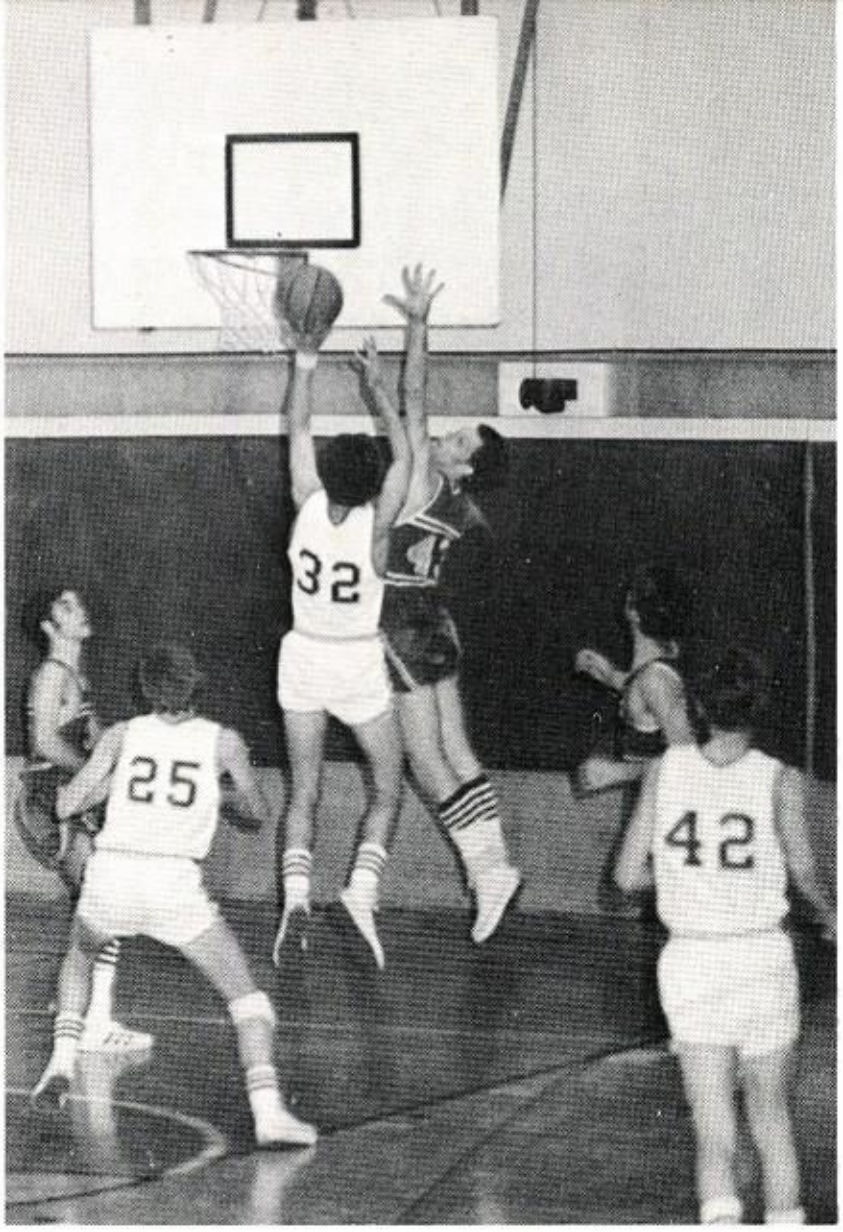
Coach Bob Martin

The last game of the season, a 71-70 loss to Aviation, typified the frustration experienced by the varsity basketball team. Although the hoopsters gained their first Sky League win in two years (a 60-57 victory over Culver City) they were destined to finish last in league. The 4-20 record was only a slight improvement over the 69-70 season of 3 wins and 21 losses.



Sophomore Gary Vacchio, number 32, muscles his way in for the three-point play against the Culver City Centaurs.

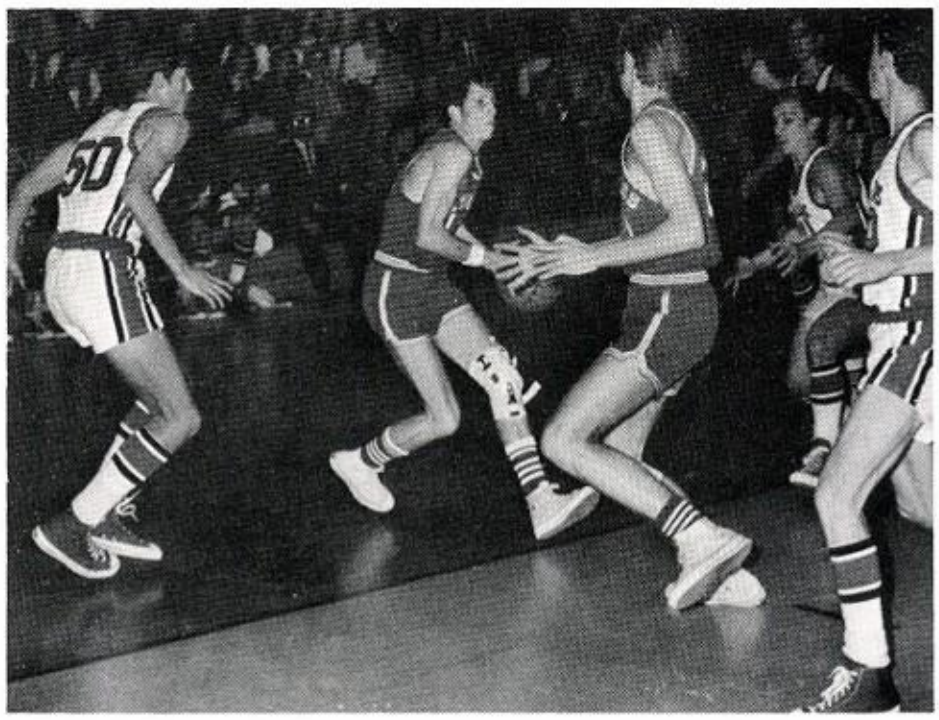
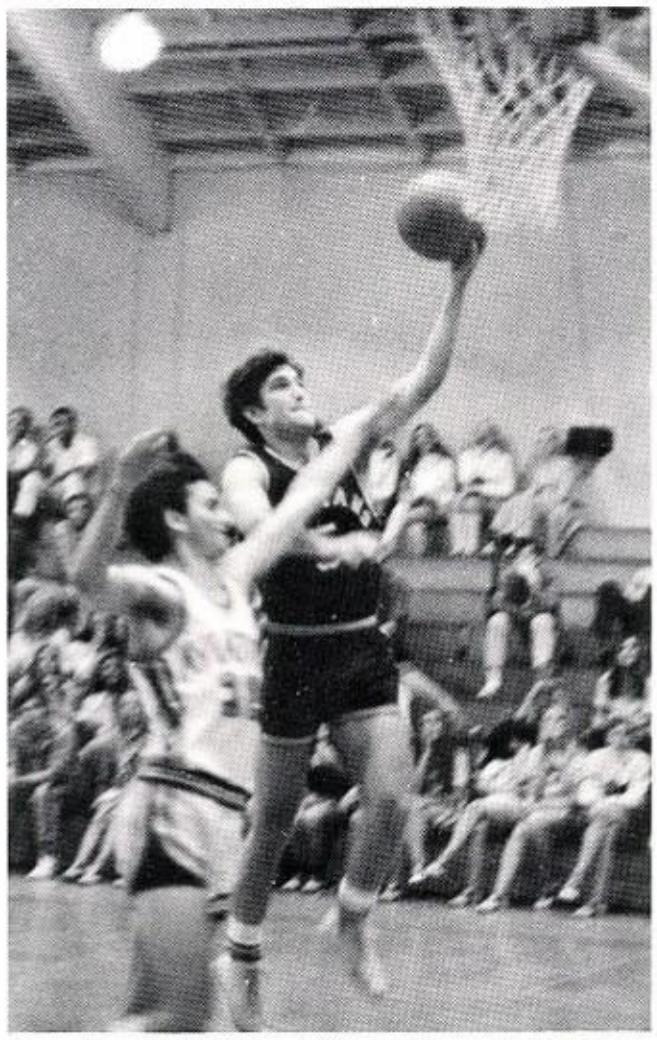
Cagers Show Aggressiveness



Three-year letterman Mark Kidwell prepares for a jump shot after eluding opponent.



Senior Chuck Gibbon, key man in the Olympian fast break, leaps high over a lone Aviation defender for a lay-up

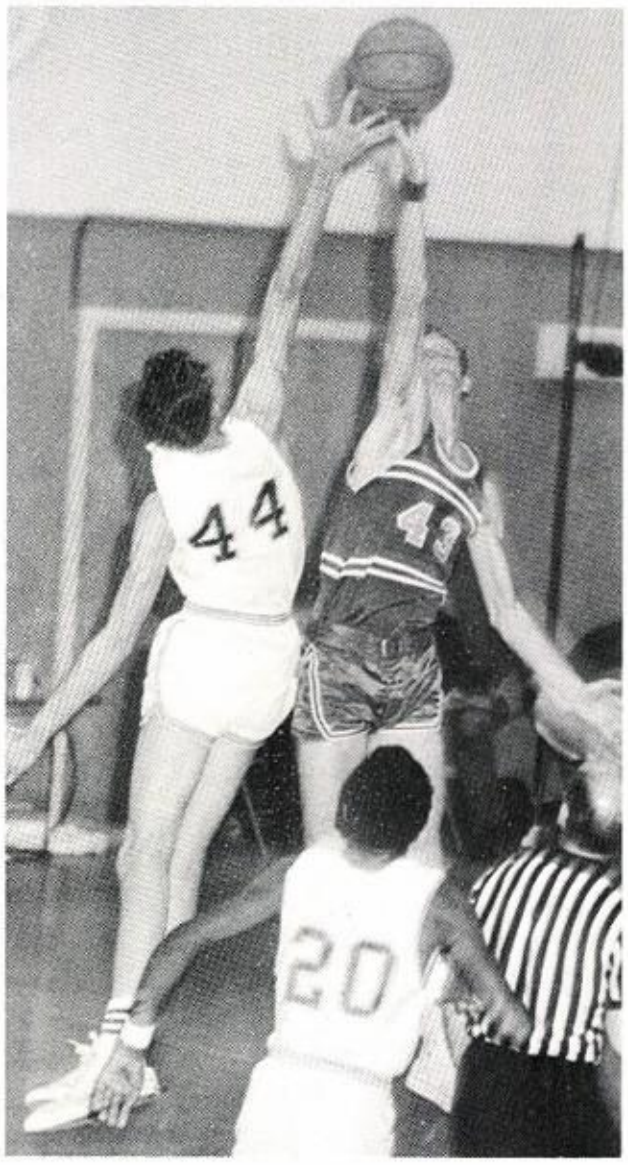
Junior Kevin O'ryan draws a foul on a driving lay-up against the Culver City Centaurs.

Despite Lack of Height

Steve Carlough uses his fine shooting ability to sink free throw.



Steve Thompson (44) sails skyward as he outjumps foe to direct tap to teammate.

Classy Cagers in Creditable Performance

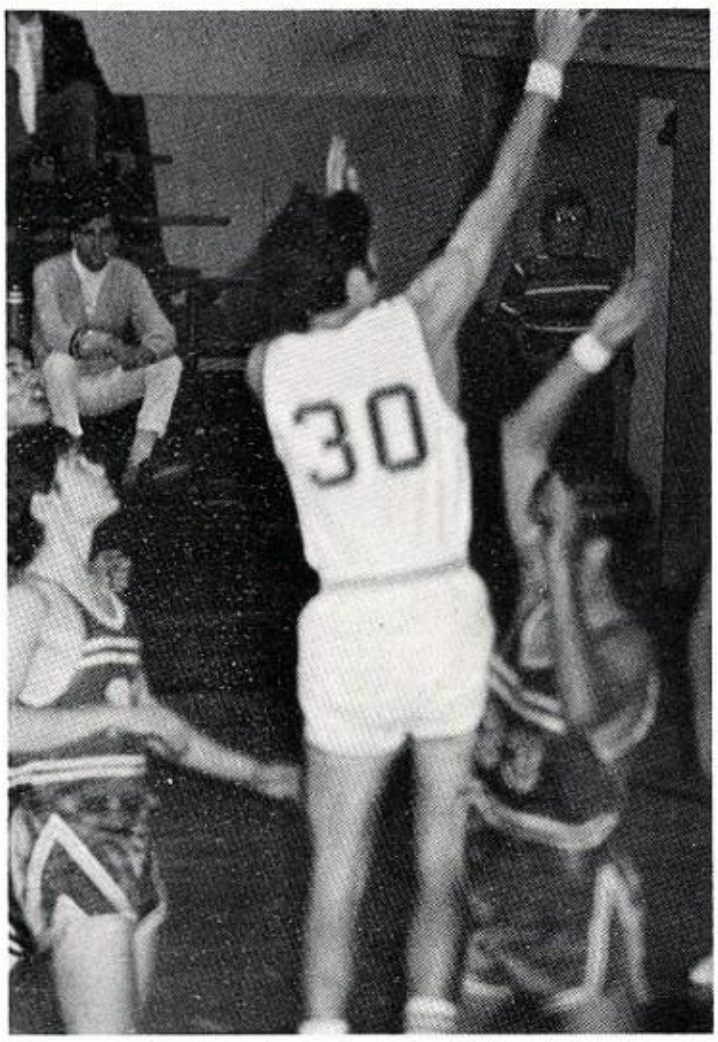
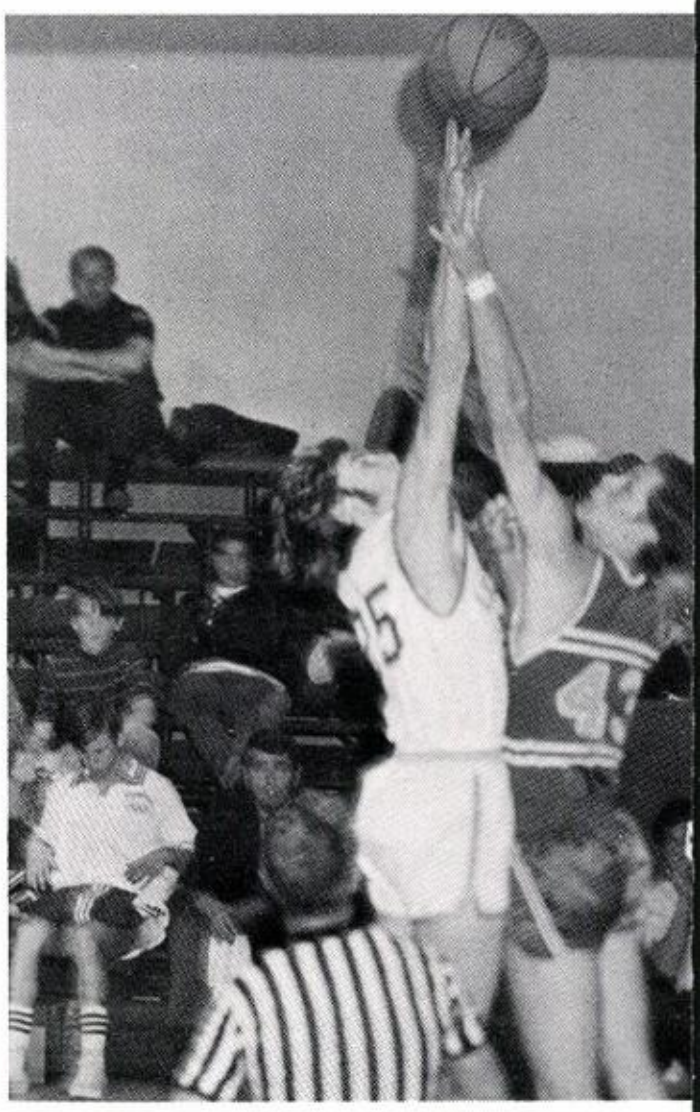
Unimpeded by an opponent Dan Hallberg, senior, lets fly with a shot.

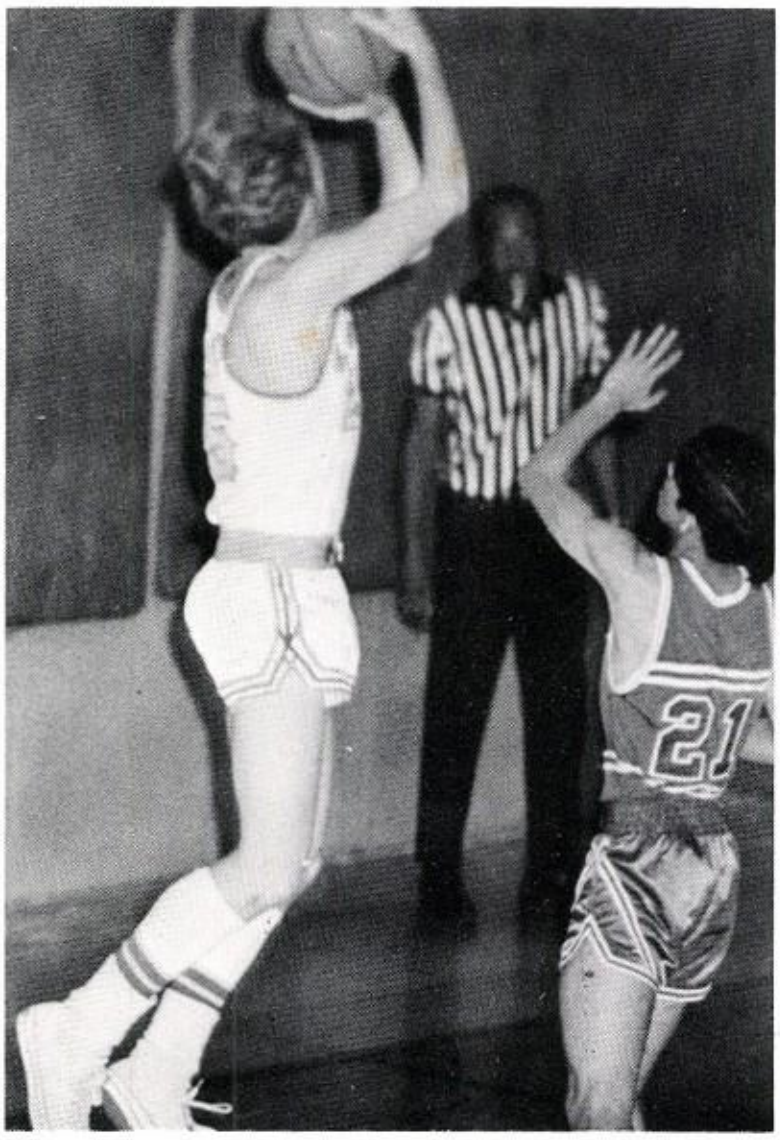


Despite the efforts of a Culver City defender, two year letterman Fred Pearson gets a shot off.

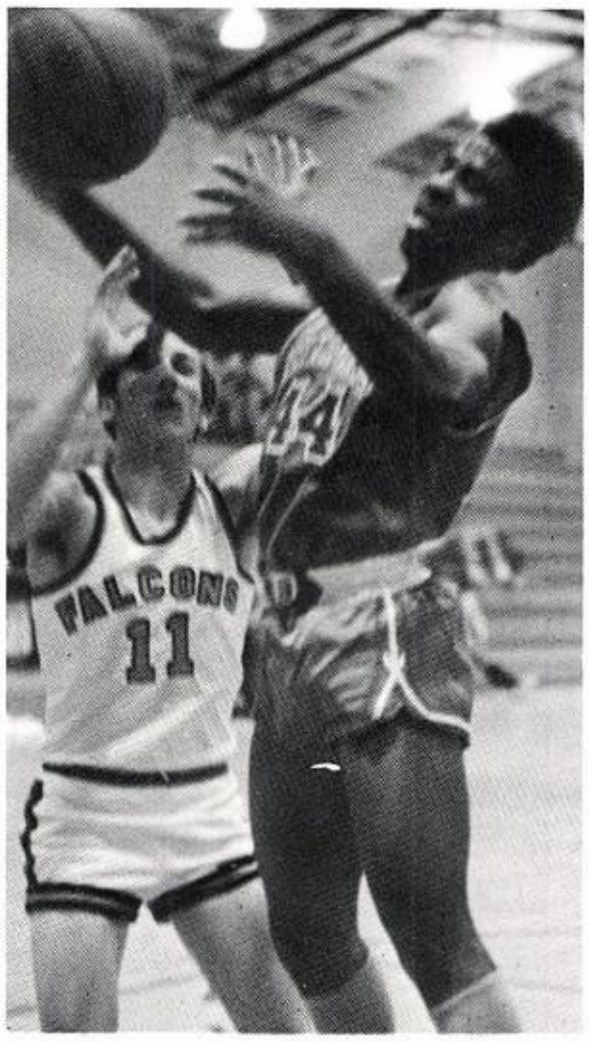


Senior center Dave Bowen easily wins a tip over opposing center.

J.V. Hoopsters Show Great Hustle



Sonny Stoeher shows his excellent form as he shoots a jumper from the corner.



Johnny Johnson shows that hustle counts as he out-rebounds his Aviation opponent.

Scott Pickens gives his 'all' in an attempt to block opponent's pass.

Proudly They Hail. . .

The class of '72 has made a definite contribution to Leuzinger and the community through athletics, Fine Arts, academic achievement, and school spirit.

The class is quite representative of a cross section of America. It's members are active participants in shaping their destiny -- for the most part, determined to make a positive contribution both as a class, and as individuals. I believe the class of '72 will succeed in both of these roles.

Sincerely,
Naurine Bennett

The Class of 1972

James Kelly

Three years --- although this seems to be a long time, it is but a moment in your life. Next year, your senior year, will be the year of decision, "What am I going to do with my life in the future?"

One should always remember that each new day is the first day of the rest of one's life. It's not easy to make a decision that will set the pattern of the future. There is one thing that must be kept in mind when planning the future, that is, will I be happy in what I plan to do? This above all is the criteria that must be the final judgement that decides your course of action. A sense of being able to say I have made the world a better place in which to live. This is the objective to base a lifetime of work upon.

James Kelly

James C. Chadwick

During the 2 years that I have been a member of our class team, I have been greatly impressed. The dedication and willingness you have shown has been unsurpassed. Your record scholastically, your display of class and school spirit, and your general behavior have been outstanding. The leadership you have shown has inspired our entire student body. As seniors you will traditionally assure leadership of our school and student body. Accept the challenge. Accept it with the determination and vigor you have in the past and Leuzinger will be second to none. Good luck. May this coming year be an outstanding one for all of you.

James C. Chadwick

The Junior class had a very capable and spirited first and second semester cabinet. They had a successful spaghetti dinner and other money raising activites. They helped plan for this year's Junior-Senior Prom and also started planning for next year's Prom. These many accomplishments throughout the year will make their senior year a success.

Marie Boryan

"The great essentials of happiness are something to do, something to love, and something to hope for." This is an old saying that holds as much truth today as when it was first uttered.

You are now at the half-way point in your high school experience. I sincerely hope that these have been happy years and that your junior and senior years will hold much happiness as well.

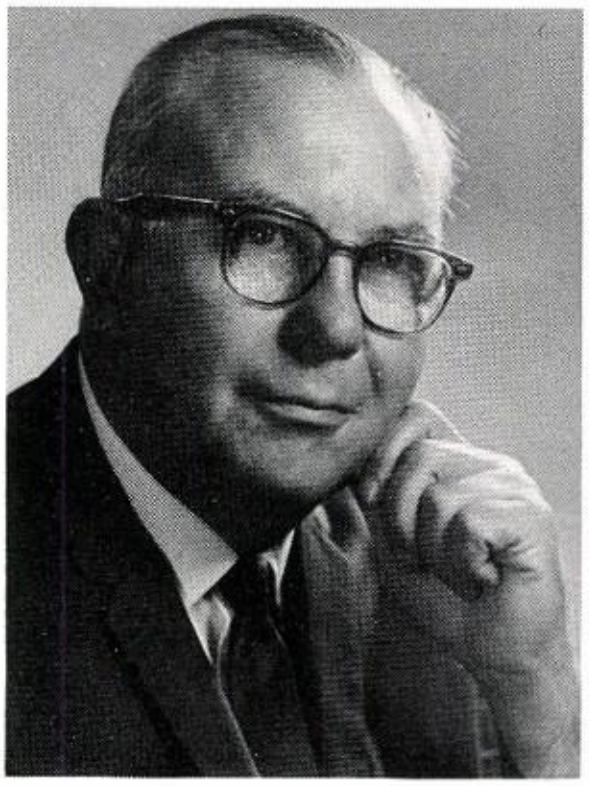
If you have something to do, something to love, and something to hope for, I am sure your last years in high school will indeed be full and happy ones. I wish for each of the members of the Class of '73 these essentials of happiness.

M. Boryan

J. Michael Milling

The first two years of high school are now behind you. If you so wish, you may look back to rejoice over your triumphs and to look ahead with anticipation and are able to realize that the future is what really matters, then the next two years will bring you the peace and happiness we all search for.

Best,
Michael Milling



J. M. Lockard

To the class of '73:

Congratulations! You have reached the mid-point in your high school career and next year you will become the upperclassmen at L.H.S. As you continue to grow and mature, I am confident that you will develop the quality of leadership and scholarship that our school needs and deserves.

It has been my pleasure to have worked with you these past two years, and I look forward in the next two years to the day of your graduation. By that time, I hope that the generation gap will have narrowed; that the natural environment will be cleaner; that there will be more peace and prosperity in the world.

"Look out world here I come!"

Freshmen

Freshmen Have Guidelines Set by Counselors

Mr. Carroll Adams

With the conclusion of the Freshman year we of the class of '74 find ourselves at a point of decision in our young lives.

We are somewhat in a state of limbo trying to decide if we should channel our attitudes and philosophies toward more positive goals and objectives that will ultimately lead us to level of being a responsible adult and citizen of our community. Or, we could not take the initiative or advantage of the opportunities available to us during the next three years of our high school careers and remain at a stage in our development that could restrict us from experiencing a most important part of our maturation.

This decision has to be weighed and evaluated in the minds of each of us individually and with the resources at our disposal here at Leuzinger we all can be assured of the proper educational and general background that will enable us to attain a more meaningful role in society for future years.

Mr. Robert Simpson

If our schooling involves only acceptance and use of easy labels, we may see one another as redundant human beings, plastic people, or phonies. If we are learning to make decisions as individuals, and we recognize some of the habit, whim and convenience influencing our thinking, we have some self awareness. We then might see and try to understand others as human beings. (Mr. Simpson)

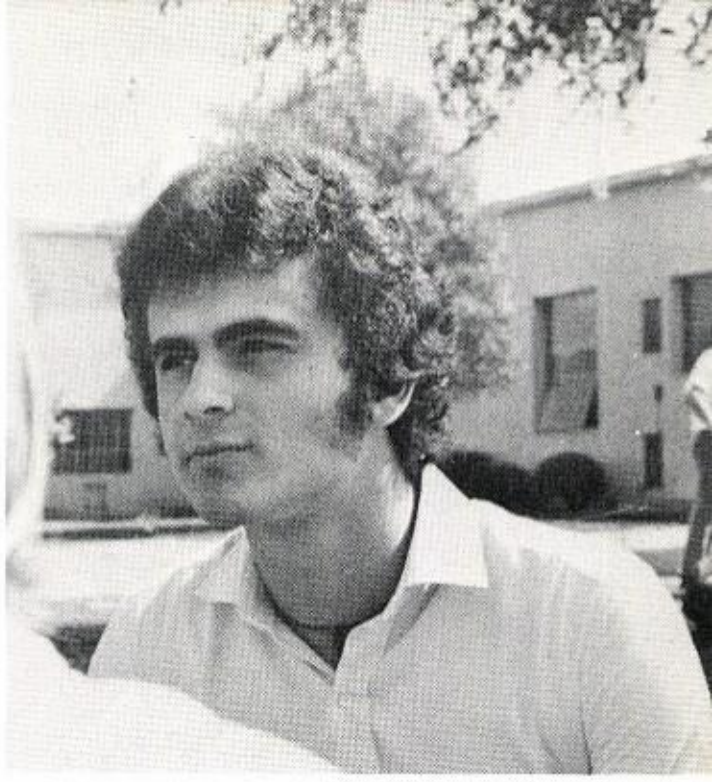
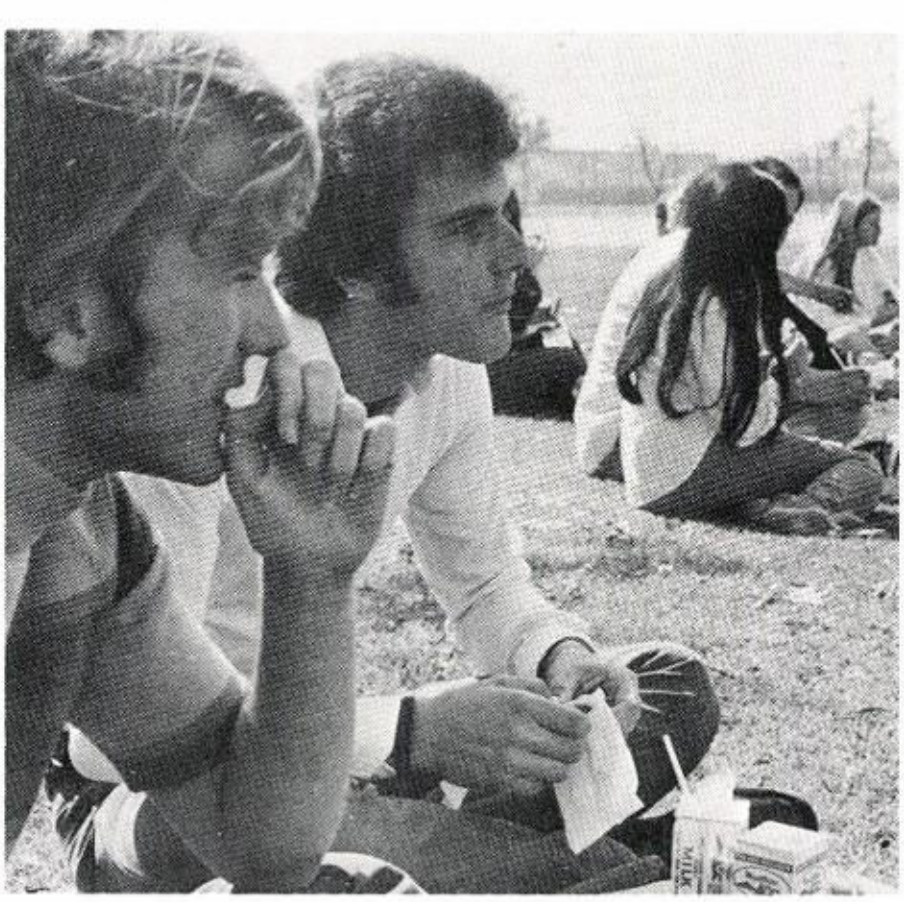
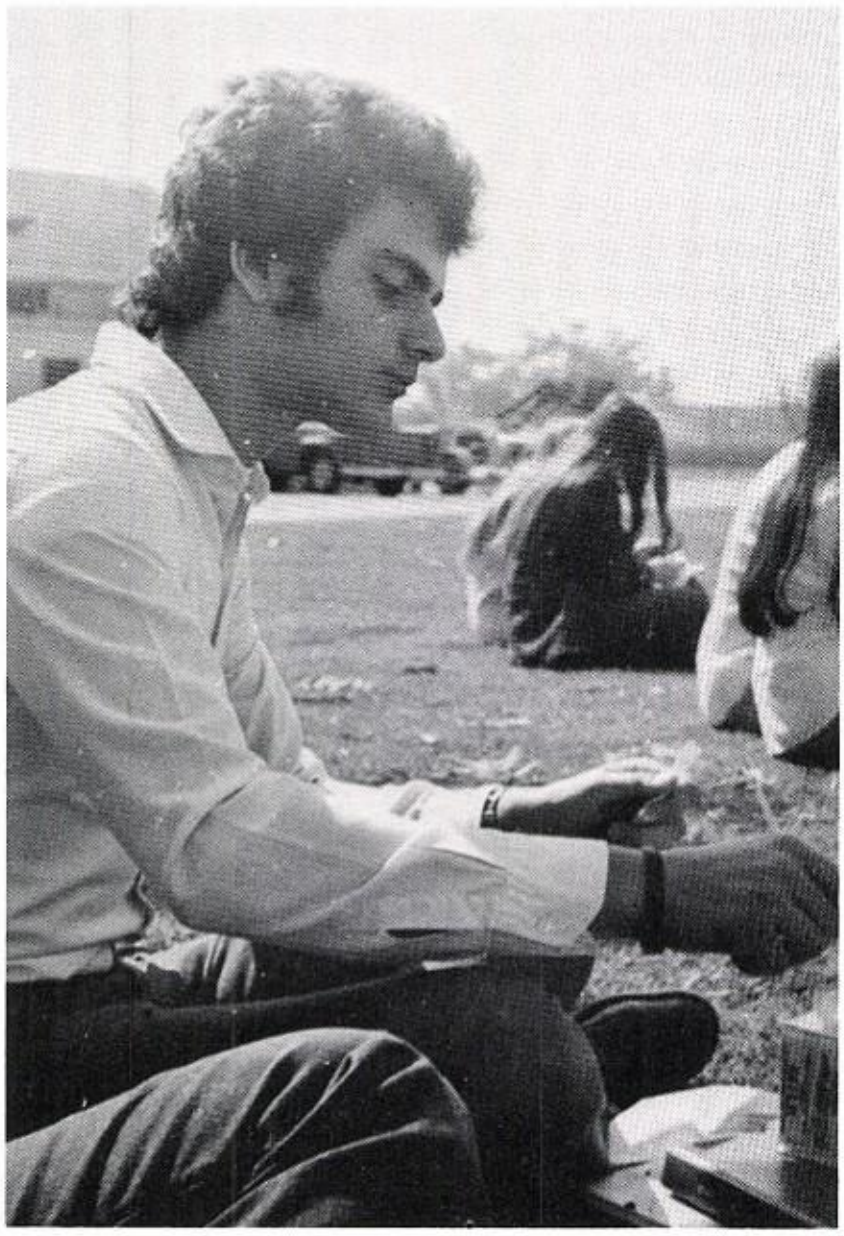
Guido Gets Exposure to LHS Life - American Style



Embarking on a year-long journey to the United States, Guido Cupolo came to Leuzinger via the American Field Service. Residing with the W. W. Dunlap family of Gardena, Guido, along with his foster sister, Marilee, plunged into American life at Leuzinger. Guido readily related to the community about European life.





American Scene Unfolds for Nydia of Costa Rica

Coming to Leuzinger from the South American country of Costa Rica, Nydia Sanchez brings to Leuzinger, and to the United States, views of the world seen south of the equator. Living with the Fulton family and her foster sister, Sharon, Nydia has experienced Olympian life from all aspects.

Vocational Homemaking, Marriage and Family, Homemaking I

With the advent of the first semester, the Home Economics department began an entirely new concept in advanced classes - The Vocational Homemaking/Child Care Program. Under the supervision of Mrs. Baumanns, 11 senior girls participated in a five week orientation course covering the techniques and handling of grammar - school - age children. The class consisted of a two-hour period with actual work aiding in a nursery school, Operation Head Start, or a kindergarten.

The students were evaluated frequently by their employers as well as Mrs. Baumanns.

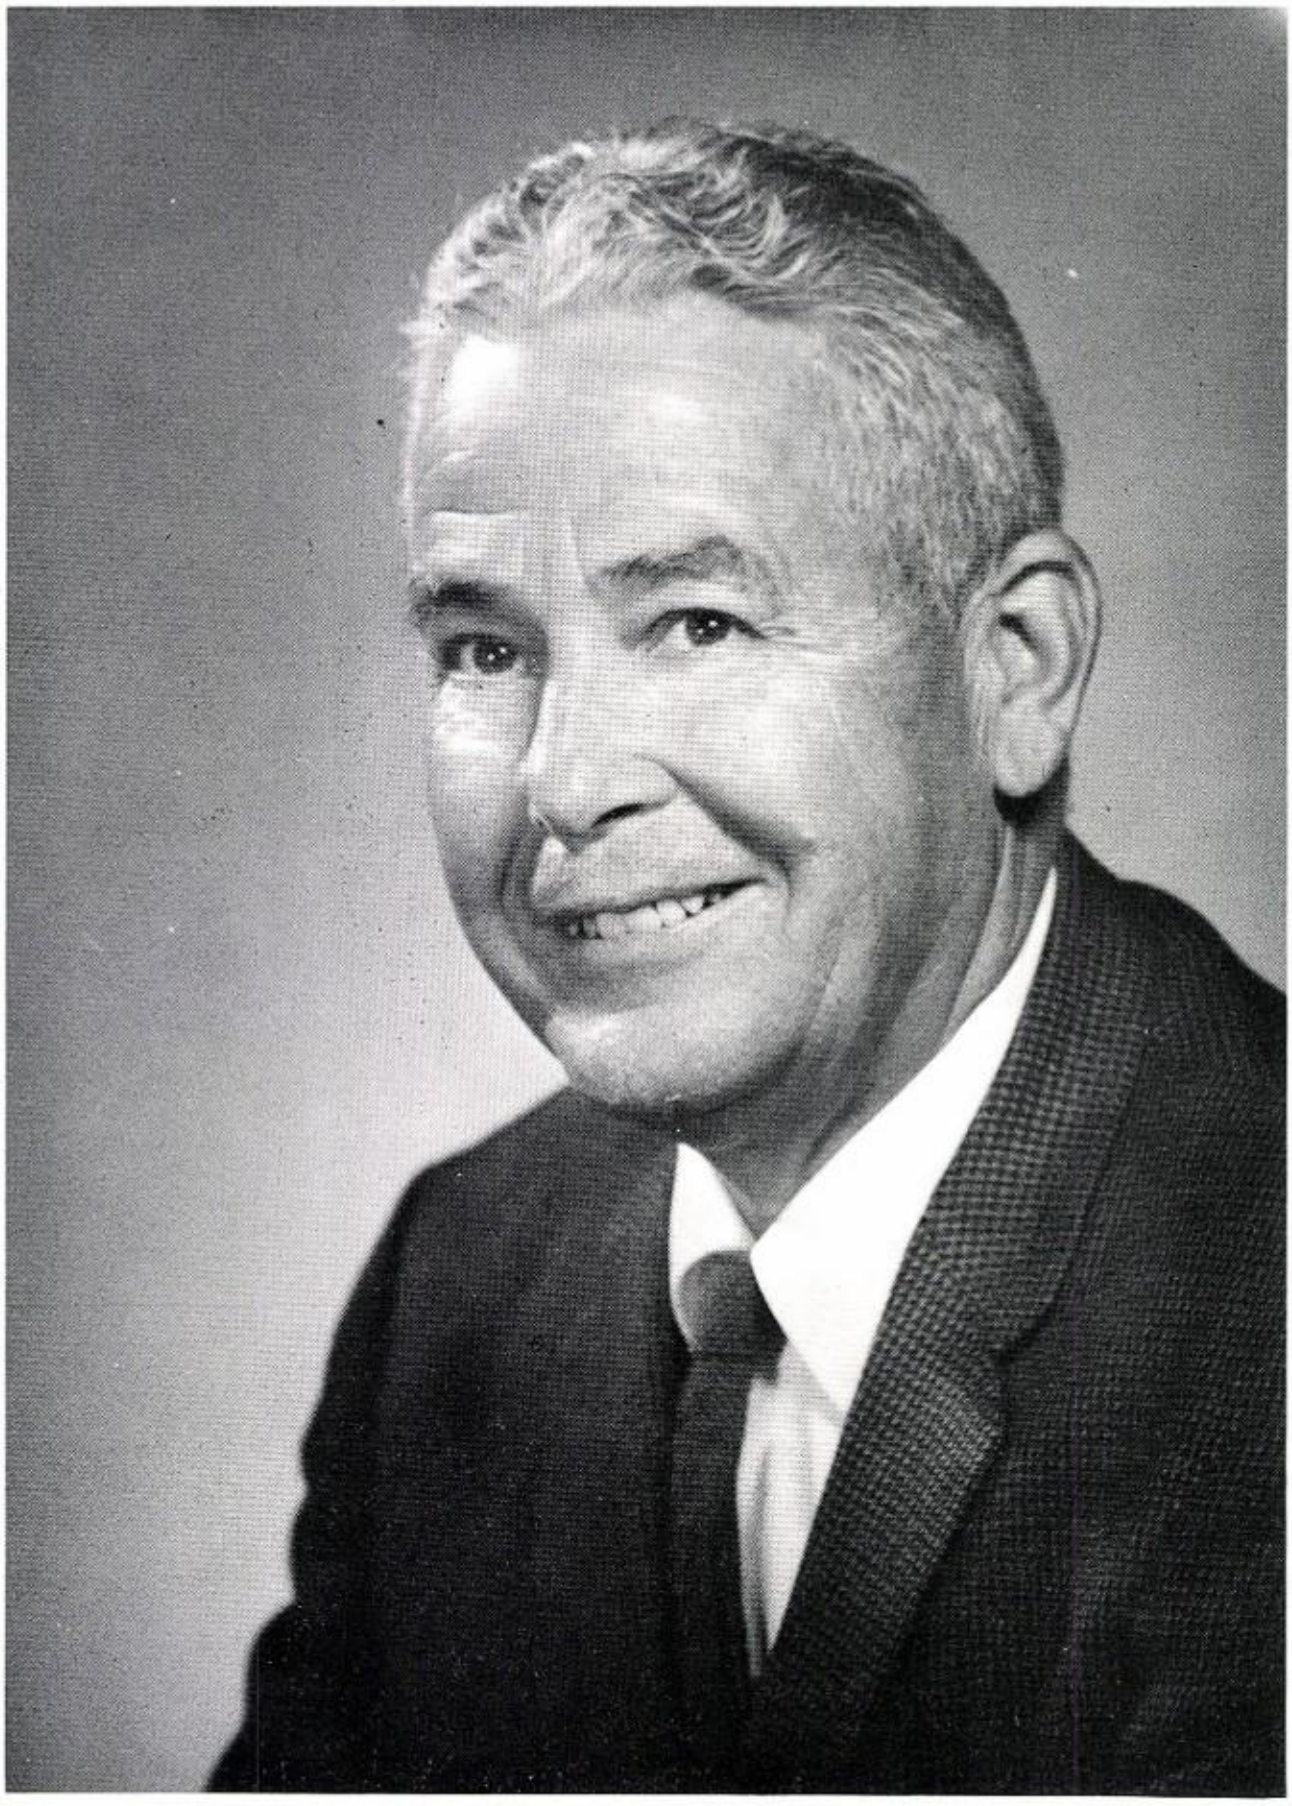
In Memorium -



Ray Erickson
1909 - 1971

On January 1, the Leuzinger High School community lost a true friend with the death of Ray Erickson. Mr. Erickson, who headed the Business Department, was highly regarded by his peers as a most competent, understanding and strong leader. To his students he was an excellent teacher and an understanding individual. He was a forceful leader in his representation of the faculty; he was an inspiration to those with whom he taught and to those he taught. His contributions in the field of Business Education, photography instruction, and the general well-being of the entire Leuzinger community are everlasting. Ray Erickson, indeed, was a true friend.

NitaMarie Thompson

The Pylon of 1970-71 closes on a sad note as we pause to honor the memory of NitaMarie Thompson, who died on April 9. Miss Thompson, 28, taught at LHS since 1963, and as an arts, crafts and ceramics teacher, she made many contributions to the highly successful arts program at Leuzinger. The Fine Arts department has lost a true friend as Miss Thompson's many works of art used in plays and musicals will be sorely missed...Also, future seniors may well pay tribute to this fine person as she was one faculty member who laid the ground work for Senior Proms. We will miss her; as a teacher, a colleague, a friend.
